Thought For The Day
How few think justly, of the thinking few. How many never think, who think they do.
—Jane Taylor

Speeches, Discussions Highlight ODK Confab

More than 90 students and faculty members attended the fifth annual Omicron Delta Kappa Leadership Conference at Lakeside Saturday.

The central theme of the conference was "What Can Be Done to Stimulate an Intellectual Climate Outside the Classroom?" The theme was divided into three sub-topics which were discussed in buzz sessions: 1. What Can Be Done through Social, Cultural and Academic Organizations; 2. What Can Be Done through Student-Faculty Relationships? and 3. What Can Be Done by the Individual? Members of Omicron Delta Kappa and Cap and Gown served as discussion leaders at the sessions.

The keynote address was delivered preceding the discussion groups by Dr. Maurice Mandell, associate professor in the College of Business Administration. Closing remarks were spoken to the group by Dr. Elden T. Smith, dean of Students.

State Approves Overman Bids

President Ralph W. McDonald has received a letter from R. M. Larimer, state director of public works, recommending the awarding of contracts totaling $685,000 to a number of contractors for the construction of the addition to Overman Hall.

With the exception of the bid for the general constitution of the building, all of the bids exceeded the state architect's estimates. Dr. McDonald stated, but the department of public works felt that no advantage would be gained by readvertising the project.

The lowest and the best bids received for the various contracts are as follows: general contract, $456,900; plumbing contract, $42,680; heating contract, $79,995; electrical contract, $79,325; and elevator contract, $12,557. The total cost of construction also includes a contingency fund of $13,543.

Traditions Board Plans Migration To Miami U.

Yearbook Editors Workshop Held At BGSU Today

The Sixth Annual High School Workshop will be held at the University today, announced Dr. Raymond W. Derr, associate professor of journalism and director of the workshop. An estimated 350 to 400 students are expected to attend.

Registration for the one-day event will begin at 9 a.m. in the Grand Ballroom of the University Union, followed by a welcoming address by Dr. Ralph G. Harshman, vice-president of the University. An advisor and a maximum of five students may attend from each school. Over 60 schools are expected to participate in the workshop.

Leaders for the workshop will include representatives from yearbook printing companies, engravers, cover specialists, layout artists, and photographers.

The workshop program is divided into sections for those students inexperienced in yearbook production and those who have had previous training.

The afternoon will be devoted to personal conferences of students and advisors with the yearbook representatives. Displays will be on exhibit in the Grand Ballroom at this time.

Plans are being formulated by Student Spirit and Traditions Board for a mass migration to Oxford on Nov. 1 for the Bowling Green—Miami football game.

A meeting is being called today of sorority, fraternity and residence hall representatives in order that the information and details concerning the planned migration may be presented to the student body for their consideration. This will be a highly-contested game—Miami's Homecoming and also a big MAC game.

Two plans for the migration are being considered by Student Spirit and Traditions Board. A train from Bowling Green to Oxford at a cost of $8.45 per person. Three hundred and fifty persons would be needed to charter the train. Box lunches could be sold on the train or a concession stand to sell sandwiches and beverages could be set up in one car.

The second plan is for bus transportation—cost about $6.45 per person. The buses would leave Bowling Green at approximately 7 a.m. for the five-hour drive to Oxford-game time 2 p.m.

A block of tickets is available from Miami at $3 each.

Final decision will be reached after the residence hall representatives present the information to their residence halls and report student feeling to the Board for consideration.

Transportation is being arranged through the Hayes Travel Agency in Perrysburg.

PRESIDENT RALPH W. McDONALD is shown presenting the $200 Borden Freshman Scholarship Award to Martha McNutt as Shu Sum Cheuk and Sue Ann Schoenberger look on. All three students achieved 4.0 grade averages during their first year at the University.

3 Students Commended For High Scholarship

Three University sophomores were commended for their freshman-year scholarship records by President Ralph W. McDonald in a short Borden award presentation ceremony Friday afternoon in the President's Office.

The students—Martha McNutt, Sue Ann Schoenberger, and Shu Sum Cheuk—all achieved 4.0 grade averages during their first year at the University.

The $200 Borden Freshman Prize for 1957-58 went to Miss McNutt, but because she and Miss Schoenberger were tied for the honor and the prize cannot be split, the Bowling Green State University Foundation matched the $200 Borden award with a special prize to Miss Schoenberger.

Although the academic record of Shu Sum Cheuk was equal to the other two, he had carried a lighter schedule during his freshman year than either of his competitors. He received honorable mention for his high scholarship.

The Borden Freshman Prize is given annually to the student who has made the highest grade average during his freshman year at the University. It consists of $200 from a prize fund set up by the Borden Company Foundation, Inc., of New York.

Shuck Announces Grants-In-Aid; Applications Available In LA Office

Upperclass students, particularly seniors who are to be graduated this year, are invited to investigate the possibilities of the scholarship or fellowship awards which will be available for the academic year 1959-60, Emerson Shuck, dean of the College of Liberal Arts, has stated. Students who are planning to enter college teaching should be particularly interested, he added.

Information and application blanks are available in the office of the College. Application deadlines for the grants are Oct. 15 in some cases, and Nov. 1 in others.

One group of available scholarships are foreign study grants administered by the Institute of International Education. These are of several types. There are U.S. government grants under the Fulbright Act, U.S. government grants under the Inter-American Cultural Convention, North Atlantic Treaty Organization scholarship awards, and foreign government and university awards. Primarily for graduate study,

Time Will Tell

At the Omicron Delta Kappa Leadership Conference Saturday, various methods were discussed as to how the intellectual climate outside the classroom might be stimulated on the University's campus. Or, in other words, what could be done so that the persons enrolled at the University will be regarded as being truly educated at the time of their graduation—just as the students at schools such as Harvard and Yale are regarded.

To achieve this, of course, "the whole man" must be educated, and in the discussion periods, many things about the University, its students, and faculty were judged to be in need of improvement. These ranged from fraternity members' manners at the dining table to student-faculty relationships both in and out of the classroom.

It must be remembered, however, that the University is a fairly young institution when compared to most of the schools of the "Ivy League" in the East or any of the others in the prestige group. Bowling Green can hardly be expected to have achieved in less than 50 years what some of these have brought about in twice or three times as many years.

Reputation, good or bad, grows with the years, and as the University has increased its enrollment and educational facilities in the past seven or eight years, it has also increased its reputation of being a school that attempts to educate "the whole man." It cannot be expected to have equal prestige with the older schools, but who is to say what might be the case in another 100 years?

Another fact that anyone must bear in mind when comparing the University with any of the prestige group is that Bowling Green is a state institution, while the others are private. The differences in background and social level represented on this campus could not be found at any of the ones in the "Ivy League." It is therefore true that much of the reputation credited to their educational programs is actually the reputation of the students and their families.

So, it will be no harm for students, faculty members, and administrative officials to bring about changes and promote new programs and activities, but no one must hope for a sudden improvement in the University's academic climate. Years will bring this about, and the reputation of Bowling Green as a first-class educational institution will be made stronger.

Letter To Editor

In response to the editorial on Tuesday, Sept. 30, my opinion is that the casual contact period is much to blame for the sorority women not knowing the freshmen and upperclass women as well as they should. I am now a pledge as a result of upperclass rush, but I know that many of my friends who did not rush were unable to speak to girls they have known since their freshman year or longer.

I think that the Panhellenic Council should investigate the system used by the University of Maine. By allowing sorority women to socialize with prospective rush-ees, this will create a closer bond and better understanding between the girls. No doubt will be left in any sorority woman's mind about the personality, appearance, or achievement of a rushee when it comes time to vote on her to become a member of a sorority.

Those upperclass women who "had eyes only for one of the larger groups" should blame themselves for being unrealistic in setting their ideals so high. These groups can only take a limited number, as anyone on this campus knows, but I am sure out of 150 upperclass women, the quotas all could have been filled if everyone had a chance to know each other better before. A more careful consideration should have been given to the smaller groups which also have good possibilities. Becoming acquainted in informal situations, as in the dorms, is one of the best ways, I think, to know the freshman and upperclass women planning to rush.

Of course there were other reasons for fewer women getting bids than expected from the 150 who signed up for rush. Some may have found the financial obligation too much of a burden or perhaps sororities did not fulfill their expectations. Who is to blame? I believe our system should abolish the "casual contact" period and allow only a week of silence just before rushing begins.

BG Beats Dayton, 25-0; Furcron Leads Attack

By RON GEISER

Bowling Green State University football team completed the first third of their season undefeated as they ground their way to a 25-0 win over the University of Dayton Saturday night.

Hometown product Bob Colburn and halfbacks Bob Ramlow and Harold Furcron paced the Falcons to win number three.

For forty minutes the squads fought their way slowly up and down the field with neither team reaching touchdown territory. Then with about five minutes remaining in the third period—the turning point.

With first and ten on BG's 39, Dayton quarterback Mel Smolik threw a pass intended for end George Markley in the end zone. Safetyman Colburn, a Dayton Fairmont product, moved in front of the tall end and pilfered the toss.

His momentum carried him into the end zone, but he ran out to the three where the Falcons took over. A penalty against the Flyers moved the ball out to the eighth.

After three running plays picked up the first down on the 15, Dianiska carried to the 19. Then in the most exciting play of the game, Harold Furcron broke off left tackle, twisted loose from two linebackers, evaded Vince Palyan at mid-field, and raced a total of 81 yards for the backbreaking touchdown.

Chuck Perry's PAT was place-kicked perfectly and BG was on top, 7-0. After that it was all BG, except for a brief Flyer drive in the final quarter.

Bob Ramlow, leading rusher in the game with 104 yards in 18 carries, sparked the next drive as he collected 32 of the needed 54 for the TD. Furcron added the other 22, with 18 of them coming on a pass from Colburn with a third and 10 situation. Perry's kick was partially blocked by Palyan and the scoreboard read, BG

13, UD 0, with 13:32 remaining.

After four futile UD plays, BG took over on the Flyer 38 and scored in five plays. Ramlow made three off left tackle, Furcron made five around right end, and Ramlow picked up eight for a first down on the UD 22.

Furcron was piled up at the line of scrimmage, but Colburn spotted the speedy back alone on the 10 and hit him with a pass on the next play, Furcron scoring as he picked his way down the sidelines for his second TD after the catch. Colburn's attempted pass for the extra points was too high.

Trailing 19-0, Dayton made one final attempt to score. Smolik, who hit 14 of 24 passes for 131 yards, passed six times and connected five times for 67 yards. The drive went from UD's 18 to BG's 16 before Bob Bird smeared Smolik for a 16 yard loss to kill the threat.

After an exchange of fumbles, beginning on their own 26, BG's third string backs received their chance. Salminen went six yards on a quarterback keep. Bob Young then reeled off the second spectacular run for BG as he went up the middle on a quick opener for 55 big yards.

With the ball on UD's 15, Salminen passed to Chuck Comer for 12 yards and a first down on the three. Klicman plunged for two, and as the game ended, Comer went off left tackle for the final tally. The pass for conversion was knocked down to leave the score 25-0 in favor of the Falcons.

The defeat ended Dayton's seven game winning streak at home, which had extended from November, 1956, and left their record at one win, two losses for the season.

From the statistical point of view UD and BG were just about even in the first half, but BG ran away in these also in the second half. They totaled 310 yards on the ground and 101 through the air to the Flyers' 79 on the ground and 131 via the air lanes.

MAC Roundup

The Kent State Golden Flashes defeated the Ohio University Bobcats 14 to 6. Both teams went into the conference game with two victories and no losses for this season.

John Henry Martin, sophomore fullback, led the Kent squad to score in the first period after a 74 yard march made of 19 short gains. In the final period, another march of 68 yards in 17 plays set up the score with Alvia Jackson carrying over from the five.

Bob Harrison of Ohio University tallied the Bobcat's lone six points on a twelve yard run in the third period.

XU UPSETS MIAMI

Twice beaten Xavier (of Ohio) started the first quarter with a two touchdown lead and went on to an upset 22-8 victory over Miami.

Halfbacks Jim Wessel and Terry Meyer combined to carry the ball 179 of Xavier's 204 yards in rushing. Miami was held to a net of 36 yards on the ground.

Girbert scored Miami's lone touchdown on a one-yard run in the second quarter.

Starky Stalks

By Bob Starkweather

The fighting Falcons have done it again. The resounding victory over the University of Dayton Flyers proved that Bowling Green has become a power to be reckoned with on the gridiron.

Several Bowling Green players proved beyond a doubt that they will have to be considered when the post-season teams are picked. Bob Zimpher did a remarkable job of taking All-American tackle candidate Emil Karas out, as half-back, Bob Ramlow repeatedly hit the left side of the Dayton line . . . Harold Furcron dazzled the crowd of 7,196 with a nifty 81-yard run late in the third period . . . Bernie Casey again showed his running ability . . . Ray Reese, the converted end who is now playing guard, also did a good job in the front line.

Furcron's 81 yd. run erased Bob Ramlow's 78 yd. jaunt last week against Lockbourne as the longest run during Doyt Perry's career at BG.

The Falcons arrived in Dayton about noon Saturday and checked in at the Gibbons Hotel. Three floors of the hotel are also used as a dormitory for the University of Dayton.

The turning point in the game came as quarterback, Bob Colburn, intercepted a Dayton pass near the BG goal and carried it back to the BG seven.

Fans listening to the game on radio station WFOB were disappointed to find that at several times the play-by-play was interrupted by static. Seems that the power cord for the public address system was hanging from the same

Mooney Hall residents recently participated in a volleyball tournament in the Women's Gym. The first games, which were played Wednesday, Oct. 1, were lost by the team from the second floor to the teams from the first floor and the ground floor. On the same evening, the third floor team beat the fourth floor team and won both games from the first and ground floor teams.

The champions from the third floor beat the team from the fourth floor again on the next evening. Then, the five counselors challenged the "all-star" team, composed of one girl from each floor, to a game and lost by a score of 12-6.

Captains for the various floors were: Judy Schild, ground floor; Neva List, first floor; Elizabeth Embree and Jane Colgrove, second floor; Judy Vitale, third floor and Terry Drees, fourth floor.

Harriers Fourth In AAU Meet

The Bowling Green Falcon Harriers did not show up to par this past Saturday placing fourth in the Michigan AAU Cross Country Championship in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

The Falcons ended the day with a total of 91 points, a score which was bettered by Western Michigan with 28 points, Michigan State University 48 points, and Eastern Michigan's 86 points. Following the BG harriers were Central Michigan, Michigan State's B team, and Wayne University.

Mel Turner and John Scott were the only BG men to place, each showing his best time of the year. Dave Armstrong, Fred Alberini, Carl Burns, Larry Dove, Ernie Malzahn and Bob Mears, were all in top physical condition, but lacked a certain something so necessary in cross country.

Coach Matthews attributes the harriers poor showing mainly to poor mental attitude. The team has "terrific possibilities" but has to work on its attitude.

This coming Friday, the Falcon cross-country squad takes on the University of Michigan and Central State University at the BG airport. This meet will be run on a mile track which is not the custom for cross-country events.

A New York business executive, lecturer, and author will open a series of monthly lectures presented by the University's College of Business Administration with a talk today at 3:30 p.m. in the Recital Auditorium of the Hall of Music.

The speaker, Al N. Seares, president of the National Sales Executives and former vice-president of the Remington Rand division of Sperry Rand Corporation, will discuss the role of marketing in modern business management.

Mr. Seares took his undergraduate training at the University of California. He is an active member of 22 professional organizations—among them, the National Association of Manufacturers (vice-president); and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Mr. Seares serves on a number of advisory boards. The list includes the National Distribution Council of the Department of Commerce, the U.S. Air Force Air Training Command, and the magazine, Printer's Ink. Last year, he was an active member of the "President's Conference for the Benefit of Small Business."

"One-Story, Two-Story, and Split-Level Homes for Fish" will be the subject of the first in the University's liberal arts lecture series at 8 p.m. Thursday, in the Union Ballroom.

The speaker will be Dr. David G. Frey, professor of zoology at Indiana University. He will describe the environment in which fish live. Dr. Jacob Verduin, chairman of the biology department, says he expects Dr. Frey will pay particular attention to the small animals and plants which represent the fish's food supply (the kitchen of his aquatic home), the process of photosynthesis, the spawning grounds, and the habitat for the very young fish (the nursery of a fish home).

LIFE INSURANCE LECTURE

First of a series of four public lectures on "Life Insurance at Work" will be presented in the University Union at 9 a.m. Thursday.

"Selection of Personnel in Life Insurance" will be the topic of the opening talk by Leroy R. Arvidson, secretary of agency services, Travelers Insurance Company.

THE NEW UNIVERSITY Cheerleading Squad for 1958-59 is clockwise, Patty Beck, Jackie Cipiti, Marilyn Wigger, Wesley Jones, Jan Baker, head cheerleader; and Judy Perry. At tryouts Thursday, Miss Wigger, a sophomore, and Miss Perry, a freshman, were added to the returning members of last year's squad.
